What are the different types of support available for children and young people with SEND in this school?	All children – Quality First Teaching	Your child will have their needs met through high quality levels of Quality First teaching, using activities that will be varied and aimed at your child individually. Daily, formative assessments are used to identify children needing additional support to secure learning. ‘Keep up, Catch up’ strategies are used by Class Teachers and Learning Support Assistants to support children with their learning on a regular basis in order to help them to make progress. Across the school, we are developing the SEND non-negotiables within classrooms. These are a list of strategies and resources to support all types of learners; which are available for everyone to benefit from.

Following the use of sanctions within school, we seek to use a restorative justice approach to re-build relationships between pupils and staff.</li> <li>• We endeavour to support any child with a behavioural difficulty by trying to identify the underlying cause and supporting the child and family to find strategies to deal with the issues. These might include: -        Developing an Individual Behaviour Assessment Profile.        - Using a behaviour monitoring/target setting chart. - Co-regulation Support Plan       <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Depending on the need, we could offer an EHA (Early Help Assessment) to support the child and family's needs through engagement with external agencies. The school primarily seeks to cater for the varying needs of children within the classroom by delivering quality first inclusive teaching as part of the school's teaching and learning principles. Any child needing extra support, in the form of an intervention, will be monitored in terms of their levels of progress. The school follows a graduated approach for SEND provision. As such, interventions are always assessed for their effectiveness. Our aim is to ensure that each child is able to make or exceed expected progress in order for them to catch up. How will activities/teaching be adapted for my child/young person with learning needs?

a) How will the curriculum be matched to my child's/young person's needs?

b) How will both you and I know how my child/young person is doing and how will you help me to support my child/young person's learning?

- Supporting and enabling all of our children to achieve and develop the confidence, independence, self-belief and resilience to become the very best that they can be is our overriding aim at Wroxall Primary School.
- We have high expectations of all our children and ensure that teaching matches the needs of children.
- The curriculum is varied appropriately to match the needs of individual children by class teachers, ensuring that it is fully inclusive, enabling all to enjoy and achieve.
- Class teachers continually use assessment for learning (AfL) and summative assessment processes to measure progress and consider 'next steps' for individual children in their class.
- Class teachers use scaffolds and adaptations to their teaching and learning to support all pupils in learning the full curriculum. Such adaptations may, but do not exclusively include, the use of coloured overlays; individual visual aids; preferential seating, clear simple instructions; tasks chunked into smaller steps; sensory awareness; checklists, visual timetables and the praising of effort above achievement.
- The school's Feedback and Marking policy seeks to identify and praise achievement and areas for development within children's work in order to support continuous progress.
- Parent consultation meetings take place twice a year and additional meetings can always be arranged at request. Formal 'end-of-year' reports are shared with parents termly.
- If your child needs additional support at home, the class teacher will inform you of how best to do that. In addition, every child in school receives weekly homework in the form of reading, spelling, maths or other curriculum-based activities (depending on the Key Stage).
- If your child is identified as having SEND they will receive an Personal Learning Plan. Pupil voice is an important aspect of SEND at Wroxall Primary and is central to the Support plan. As such, support plans are completed in school with children, identifying strengths and areas of difficulty which may impact across the curriculum. Effective support strategies and targets which relate to a range of subject areas are always explored with children during these meetings. Children are encouraged to explain how they can be proactive in supporting themselves. Support plans are always shared with parents and carers and their contributions are warmly welcomed. These documents are shared with all teachers who teach your child so that necessary adaptations are fully understood.

How will the school measure the progress of my child/young person?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In circumstances where class teachers decide that a pupil is making reduced progress or an area of concern is raised, the SENDCo would be informed.
